This Week's Spotlight is Jim Rask

It's Jim Rask's turn to be the Riverdale-Pick City Ambulance Spotlight. I stopped by Jim's shop to ask him the 4 questions that we have been asking the other members of the ambulance crew. After visiting with Jim for a while I knew this was more than just being a Spotlight, he has spent about 40 years serving the ambulance. Jim started when the town was still a government entity in the mid 80's. Brian Grondahl was the Police Officer, Fire Department & the Ambulance. He said "help me out Jim I can't drive the ambulance and take care of the patient". Training was provided for the AFA - Advanced First Aid certification, so Jim took the training and became an ambulance driver. He later took the AFAA - Advanced First Aid Ambulance training to become what is an EMT today. Jim's wife, Peggy, has also volunteered for the ambulance since the mid 80's. Jim talked about how the service has weathered rough times with low number of volunteers. He shared a time when him & Peggy took a lot of call time and the townspeople teased them that the ambulance should be called Rask Ambulance Service.

Jim has also been on the receiving end of the service by being a patient. A few years back, Jim was experiencing an allergic reaction. He woke Peggy and told her to call 911 and tell the operator he will meet the ambulance crew at the ambulance bay and that he is suffering allergic reactions and having hard time breathing. When the crew got to the bay, they said to Jim "Did you give yourself an epi shot and Jim said not yet and they said what are you waiting for" so Jim gave himself the epi shot in the back of the ambulance. Bill Lawson put the pedal to the metal after he saw how sick Jim was and had him in Bismarck in 45 minutes. Jim understands how important it is to have a local ambulance. He has had some health issues the past few years so he currently isn't able to drive but he helps with training and anywhere he can. Thanks Jim for keeping us safe in Riverdale ND.

Yard of the Week – July 12, 2023

The home of Alicia Lacher & Jon Proesch at 204 6th St., Riverdale, is Yard of the Week for July 12, 2023. Landscaping for a new home takes a lot of work but has been so worth it for this couple. The lush, green lawn was freshly mown. The front yard has a rock garden with flag pole and containers of bright pink geraniums. The newly planted hydrangea is blooming too. There are shrubs in front of the window and 3 large containers of firecracker grass, sweet potato vines & coleus are in front of the garage. The potatoes were blooming and the other plants in the garden by the side of the new shop were flourishing too. Congratulations Alicia & Jon!
Thanks for keeping your corner of Riverdale beautiful.

Bob & Sally Rutten

105 Montana Ave

Bob & Sally Rutten have done lots of work in the yard of 105 Montana Ave, Riverdale, for Yard of the Week honors for the week of July 18. The large trees in front of the house were taken out and replaced with lawn. (Which is always green and always looks freshly mown.) In front of the deck are flourishing planter baskets on top of wooden posts. The delphiniums were blooming a couple of weeks ago and Sally says they should bloom again. Love that splash of purple. Look for the gnome by the corner of the house among the hen & chicks, spirea and mini rose bush. The backyard was shady & cool when we visited. There are bird houses, metal cutouts, a decorative fence and another gnome or two in that area.
Congratulations Bob & Sally!
Thanks for keeping your corner of Riverdale beautiful.

Working Together

McLean County Regional Library

The Summer Reading theme for this year at the library is "All Together Now". In that spirit the library has a table-size coloring sheet for anyone and everyone to color when they stop in the library. The poster is right inside the front door - you can't miss it! If coloring isn't your "thing", we have a Stick Together poster by the circulation desk. The poster is printed with small squares with a code for the color of sticker that goes in that square. We don't know what the picture will be when it is finished but if we 'All work Together' we'll find out soon.

Say Yes to Clean, Drain, Dry

While the effort to stop the introduction and transportation of aquatic nuisance species in North Dakota has been mostly successful, challenges remain as not all anglers, pleasure boaters and other water enthusiasts are abiding by the clean, drain, dry message.

For example, last week department game wardens and other department staff inspected over 1,200 watercrafts throughout the state. Unfortunately, these inspections found four watercraft that were transporting zebra mussels.

Luckily, in all four incidences, the zebra mussels were determined to be dead. North Dakota waters remain relatively free of aquatic nuisance species. Besides common carp, most species – zebra mussels, Eurasian water milfoil, flowering rush, curly-leaf pondweed and three species of invasive carp – are only found in a handful of waters in the state. To keep our waters clean of aquatic nuisance species, the Game and Fish Department reminds all anglers, pleasure boaters and water users to clean, drain and dry all equipment after every use.

- Clean and remove all plants and animals from watercraft or equipment prior to leaving any recreational area.
- Drain all water from watercraft and equipment before leaving designated access points.

Not draining water can be extremely hazardous and may cause negligent transportation of aquatic nuisance species to other locations.

- Dry all equipment completely before using again.

For more information on aquatic nuisance species, visit the department's website at gf.nd.gov.

Anglers Should Keep Fish Caught in Deep Water

North Dakota Game and Fish Department fisheries personnel encourage anglers to keep fish caught from depths of more than 25 feet, rather than practice catch-and-release.

Scott Gangl, Game and Fish fisheries management section leader, said with the exceptional fish bite at Lake Sakakawea this summer, anglers should know fish reeled in from this depth will likely die if released.

“As water warms during summer, fish tend to move to deeper, cooler water,” Gangl said. “This is particularly true for walleye in the big lake, where they follow their primary forage of rainbow smelt to deeper depths as summer progresses. Now fish are being caught at depths where barotrauma is a concern.”

Change in water pressure will cause the swim bladder to expand, Gangl said, which means fish can no longer control balance. In addition, he said other internal injuries are likely, such as ruptured blood vessels or damaged internal organs. Because of these other internal injuries, biologists discourage flogging, the practice of deflating the swim bladder.

Barotrauma can happen in any deep water body such as Devils Lake, Lake Oahe and Lake Sakakawea, Gangl said, but it is especially noteworthy for this time of year in the big lake. Prior to fishing at least 25 feet deep, anglers should make the decision to keep what they catch.

Guide and Outfitter Exam Scheduled

The next guide and outfitter written examination is Aug. 19 at 1 p.m. at the North Dakota Game and Fish Department office in Bismarck. Preregistration is required no later than Aug. 11 by calling the Department's enforcement office at 701-328-6604.

The test is given periodically to anyone interested in becoming a guide or outfitter in the state.

In addition to passing a written exam, qualifications for becoming a hunting guide include a background check for criminal and game and fish violations, certification in cardiopulmonary resuscitation and standard first aid, and employment by or contract with a licensed hunting outfitter.

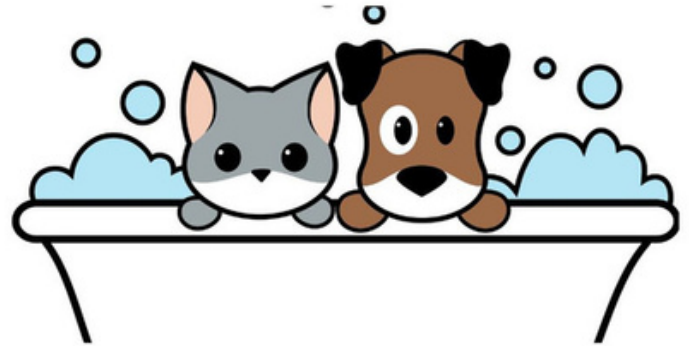

Hunting outfitter eligibility requirements include the guide qualifications, as well as an individual must have held a hunting guide license for two years and must have proof of liability insurance.
